John--here is my review of the July 2014 Monthly Progress Report for the Techalloy/Central Wire site in Union, Illinois.

1. Per Techalloy's notes, I did not receive a useful graph showing the plots of the water level, precipitation, and pumping. Techalloy should provide a more useful graph. Given the comparatively long duration of pumping during July this plot is of particular interest and should be provided.
2. The June Monthly Progress report did not include analysis of the results of the residential well sampling from June 9, 2014. Per our comments on the June report, Techalloy should note where is this data going to be discussed.
